

SKRED

SKRED, the world's first secure messenger of European origin, innovates again with a new trackless feature: multiple audio and video calls.

Paris, January 5, 2023: SKRED, in constant growth, with already more than 16 million users worldwide, has based its success on direct communication without intermediaries and without trace. Every day, millions of messages, audio and video calls, and files of unlimited size are exchanged, in absolute confidentiality, on its service. Its millions of users around the world respect their correspondents by not exposing their private life.

What was missing from this trackless offer was multiple audio and video calls, a function that is now indispensable. The feat was to make it in full peer-to-peer: exchanges are direct without storage neither routing by an intermediate server. This is a new technological achievement of the SKRED team.

The business model of SKRED is not the exploitation of personal data. SKRED is unique, free and grows with the support of its users, notably by subscribing to its audio and video multi-call service at the fair price of €2.99 per month.

With no intermediate data transit server, SKRED's service consumes no more energy than a family refrigerator and this energy is certified 100% green.

SKRED is zero data and zero carbon.

We are a team of citizens and computer scientists for freedom. We work tirelessly to achieve absolute privacy for our users.
